

Do you know someone who looks after young children on the autism spectrum?

The Incredible Years Autism programme is designed for parents of children aged two to five on the autism spectrum.

The Incredible Years Autism programme for parents is driven by each child's developmental abilities and goals, helping caregivers build their parenting skills and confidence. Over 14 weekly sessions, parents learn to engage and play with their child in ways that encourage emotional self-regulation and support their communication skills. Parents also learn to build their child's social skills and empathy and help them form positive relationships.

To find out more, visit:
pb4l.tki.org.nz/IYAforparents